Air is our element

... moving it intelligently and efficiently is our passion.

ETRI – Etudes Techniques et Représentations Industrielles (Technical Design and Industrial Image) was created in 1945. It was at first only a design office. ETRI began in ventilation with air treatment in mines and has then extended its activity to many different application types.

It has been taken over by ECOFIT in 2002. ECOFIT, which became ROSENBERG VENDÔME in 2020, is part of the ROSENBERG Group. We design, manufacture and sell electric motors and fans applications since 1976.

Thanks to a good comprehension of your project, our 70 years Know-How, and our Added Value as technical support, we validate and optimise together a Customized solution meeting outstanding Quality standards.

ETRI®

Customer specific developments enable a smooth operation also at:

- Voltage peaks
- High shock stress
- Vibrations
- Varying weather conditions and thermal stresses

... and offer flexible solutions for:

- Optimal airflow
- Various operation voltages
- Maximum efficiencies at variable speeds
- Minimum maintenance

ETRI optimized ventilation solution

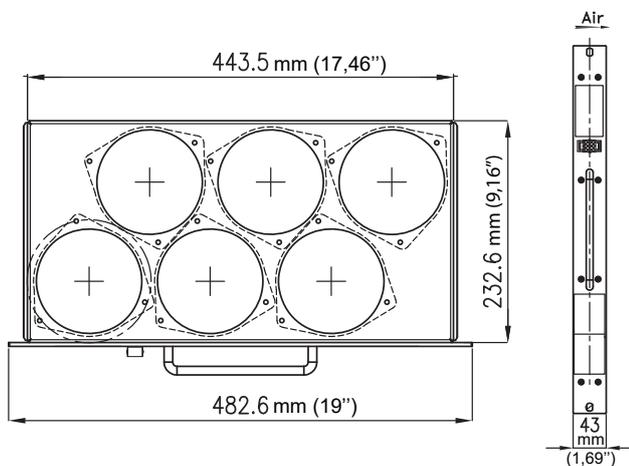

Assembled compact axial fans in tray

A fan tray is used to cool electrical and electronic cabinets.

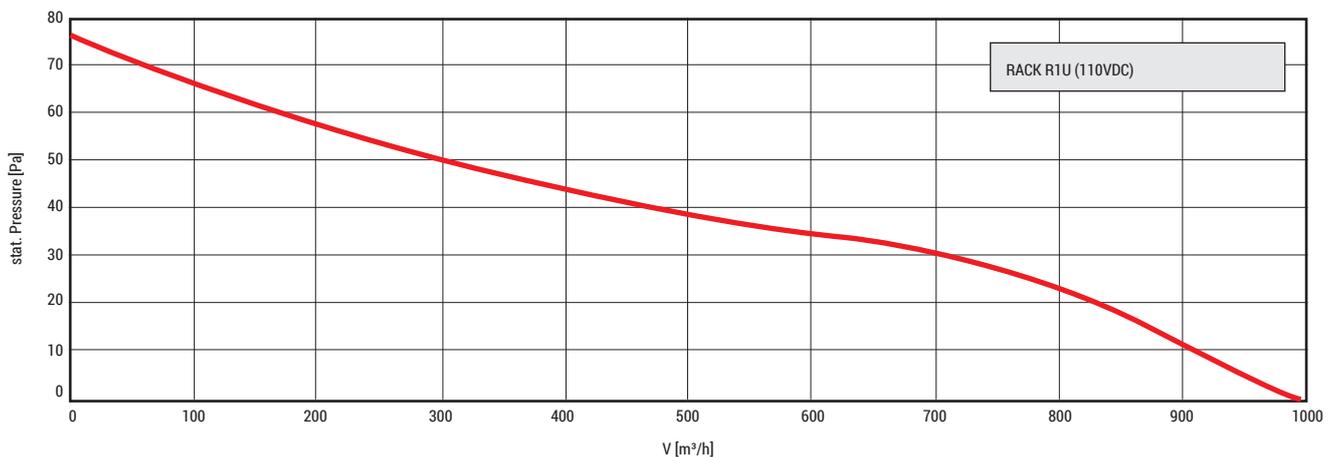

- High airflow in a small space
- Special design of axial fan to place a maximum of fans in a small space
- Size of the rack and number of fans according to the ventilation need
- Easy to install and uninstall to facilitate the maintenance operations
- Available in AC, DC and EC

Example of ETRI fan tray:

- ETRI fan tray coding:
- R: Rack (rack-mounted ventilation drawer)
 - TU: rack unit, in this case 44.45 mm (1.75") thick
 - Exxxx: project name
 - 000: The coding ends with 3 digits to identify the different versions of the product.
